TWENTIETH CENTURY FUEL

Little Town of Foster to Be Supplied By Columbia Pipe Line

Augusta Chronicle.

The little village of Foster, this county, is certainly displaying a most progressive spirit and a movement is almost consummated that will prove of almost incalculable benefit to the citizens of that place. As is well known the gas pipe line runs very near Foster, and the people realizing the benefit derived from the use of natural gas, started a movement to supply the town with gas. Thirty-four of the citizens signed an agreement to use gas, of which number several have had their homes piped for gas, and we are informed that it will be but a short time until the people there will be using gas for both lighting and heating purposes. We are also informed that Lenoxburg has caught the fever and the residents of that thriving little burg, although located four or five miles from the pipe line, are seriously considering connecting with the main line and using gas also.

The gas company installed the system at Foster, running the pipe to the curbing in front of the place using gas. For the first five years a rate of 30 cents per 1,000 cubic feet will be charged for the gas, and the second five years will be at the rate of 35 cents.

The residents of this thriving little village will not only use the natural gas for lighting and heating in the homes and places of business, but gas will be used for street lighting, arrangements now being under way to commence lighting.

McAtee and Allender, who had the contract for the laying of the gas mains in Foster, offered to pipe the gas to Lenoxburg at 8 cents per foot, furnishing the pipe and doing all the work. Residents of the lower end of the county do not believe that the gas company will put in the gas system to the village of Lenoxburg, owing to the small number of people living there who would use natural gas. Foster, with natural gas for lighting and heating, with good shipping facilities both by river and rail, will be an ideal location for factories of various kinds and through J. B. Hiles, Cashier of the Foster Bank, we learn that the citizens there will make an effort to get several factories to locate there.

HERE SHE AM!

Pure and Simple Double Distilled Essence of Condensed Rot

Frankfort Journal.

It has been said, truly, of course, that in order to produce literature a writer must have a bad digestion. This is an exaggeration of the fact that an exuberant nature is apt to reflect itself in cheap "fine writing."

An example of "fine writing" done by a red-blooded ruralist appears under the "William N. C." date line in The Charlotte Observer. In its unrivaled richness we give it to the readers of The State Journal as a rare tid-bit:

"One of the most beautiful and most magnificent and most brilliant wedding scenes that was ever presented to a Wilson assemblage will be witnessed on Tuesday night, November 12th, when Lawrence Britt, the President of the Britt Dredging Company, will lead to Hymen's altar Miss Mildred Roney, the highly talented and brilliantly polished and very fascinating daughter of our highly esteemed townsman, Captain R. G. Roney, one of Wilson's most prominent and influential business men, for in his noble life of splendid usefulness, he has exhibited the resplendent virtues of loftiest citizenship. And as Miss Roney has richly inherited his virtues, and the charms and graces of her elegant mother she is one of the most popular and lovable maidens in Wilson. And in addition a vast array of the most ravishing personal charms she has musical talent of the highest order, being a vocalist of the sublimest powers, for she has a richly cultured voice of richest melody and rarest sweetness, and her seemingly heaven-tuned notes are as pure and as sweet as the image of the morning star when bathing in the dewdrops that lie nestling in the fragrant petals of the flowers. And Mr. Britt is a high-toned gentleman, and is worthy of the brilliant love that is to sparkle in the caquet of his love and devotion, and he is indeed to be congratulated, for under her love-light every scene will be a picture of Paradise, every word a poem of enchantment, and every sound an echo of celestial harmonies, for with the love of such a jewel won, Heaven with its rapture on earth has begun."

Presumably the writer has a digestion that would not balk at transforming into nourishment a Dutch supper plus a couple of cocoanuts and a mince pie.

9100 Howard, 5100. The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dread disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the system and a "cure" nature's property.

BUGLE CALLS OF THE ARMY

What Reveille and Taps Mean—Words for the Music

Army and Navy Journal.

A correspondent sends us the following words appropriate to the stable call, which he finds in an old newspaper:

Come all who are able and go to the stable, And give your horses some water and corn; And if you don't do it your Captain will know it, And you will rue it, so sure as you're born.

For taps we have this:

Love, good night, Must thou go When the day And the night Leave me so? Fare thee well; Day is done, Night is on.

For reveille we have the old familiar rhyme: I can't get 'em up, I can't get 'em up, I can't get 'em up in the morning; I can't get 'em up, I can't get 'em up, I can't get 'em up at all.

The Corporal's worse than the private, The Sergeant's worse than the Corporal, The Lieutenant's worse than the Sergeant, And the Captain's worse than the Lieutenant.

Also this for the sick call: Come and get your quinine, quinine, quinine, Come and get your quinine, and your pills.
